

STEPHEN LAWRENCE CENTRE

NEW CENTRE WILL BE A FITTING TRIBUTE TO STEPHEN

The Stephen Lawrence Centre, opening in 2007 will provide young people living in poverty with information, training, advice and guidance. It aims to act as a hub where industry, community organisations and educational institutions can exchange information on the latest skills and needs in urban design and regeneration. This will help to build a new model for vocational training and business development.

The Stephen Lawrence Centre will house mentoring rooms, flexible education studios, computer learning resources and meeting spaces. It will also offer business development suites for young entrepreneurs, as well as a state-of-the-art creative arts laboratory with multimedia, design and digital studio facilities. The Centre will regularly host exhibitions, seminars and artist residences exploring best practice in urban design.

Timothy Associates have been commissioned by the Stephen Lawrence Charitable Trust to design the Stephen Lawrence Technocentre, which will be situated in Lewisham. Students are invited to put forward their own proposals for the Technocentre or its environment in the form of site-specific proposals for public art, commentaries, visions and warnings or proposals for specific developments.
