

Foreword

I am delighted to be able to introduce this year's Who's Who of Britain's Business Leaders.

It is our sincere aim in this 2010 edition to recognise members of the business community who have achieved notable success. In today's competitive market, it is no mean feat to be identified amongst such an elite group.

The Who's Who of Britain's Business Leaders includes individuals who direct and manage a wide variety of successful businesses in the UK. Businesses have been selected on a range of criteria which, we believe, set them apart from their contemporaries.

These criteria have been applied to narrow down the selection to the top 0.5% of those who come into this category.

Of course, we rely on the individuals themselves to check their entries, and where they have made enhancements, such as career histories and qualifications, we are unable to verify the content.

The range of executives included, from so many fields, reflects the exciting diversity of Britain's strengths in a time when it takes determination and sheer hard work to reap the rewards and recognition of a successful enterprise.
